"Graft" Hearing Postponed After Witnesses Summoned

DECOTO WILL ACT FIRST IN POLICE CASE

Commissioner E. F. Morse will not act in the "police graft" case until District Attorney Ezra Decoto has had an opportunity to examine the evidence. This was made plain today following a hasty call for a hearing in the office of Commissioner Morse. At this hearing Morse planned to start taking testimony in the charges made by Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Peterson against Chief of Police Henry Nedderman and Commissioner E. F. Morse. After the appearance on the scene of District Attorney Ezra Decoto, the entire matter was laid over, so far as Morse is concerned, until Decoto has examined the evidence with a view to having the case before the grand jury.

THINKS DECOTO SHOULD TAKE ACTION FIRST

"I felt after a conference with the district attorney," said Morse, "that the machinery is more efficient to get to the bottom of this scandal than my office would be. Therefore this hearing I had planned is to be postponed until the district attorney has made a full investigation of the whole affair, the understanding being that whatever transcripts and data he is to obtain will afterward be turned over to me for my guidance in making out the police department as the facts may indicate."

WITNESSES READY TO GIVE TESTIMONY

The taking charge of the investigation, Morse hinted, was suggested by Decoto. Morse had summoned a number of witnesses, including Peterson, Lieutenant J. J. Wood, Sergeant Charles Campbell and others, who were to have testified this morning. He issued the call for their last night, unexpectedly.

WILL TAKE ACTION AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Peterson appeared this morning with his transcript and report, and announced that he was ready to go ahead. Decoto and Morse were then closed for a few minutes, and the witnesses were informed that they would not be needed until later. That he will take action as soon as possible was stated by Decoto after the conference.

IF FACTS WARRANT

"As district attorney of Alameda county," he said, "I cannot afford to sit idly by while charges of such serious import are made against public officials. I intend to investigate and analyze the evidence, whatever it may be, and if my investigation warrants it I shall take action. However, I do not intend to waste the money of the taxpayers of Alameda county on any investigation that would in the end prove fruitless."

PETERSEN DECLARES WITNESSES FRIGHTENED

"The majority of witnesses in the case are frightened at the present time," said Peterson, "fearing Jackson's and Nedderman's power. However, their present absence will have no bearing on my case. I don't know whether they are in town or not and I don't care."

More direct charges were made today by Peterson when, in answer to a statement denying the charges yesterday by Jackson and Nedderman, he issued the following:

"So far as I am concerned, running the department is concerned, not now, nor ever, has he run the department, but he and it have been always dominated by Mr. F. F. Jackson, and Nedderman has followed him. This degeneration has incited the police department with politics. Although the majority of men in the department are worthy and honest men, a vicious minority have made an inefficient organization that has not performed its duty by the city of Oakland."

IN PAY OF GAMBLERS, CHARGES PETERSEN

"I never at any time told Nedderman that lotteries and gambling should not be molested. A comparison of my administration and his as chief of police will show that when I was chief fines levied against gamblers resulted in thousands of dollars being turned into the city treasury, but since his administration those fines have been so reduced as to question the police methods under

Burleson Rate Illegal, Rules Federal Judge

CHICAGO, April 26.—Federal Judge Landis today ruled that Postmaster-General Burleson could not increase intrastate telegraph rates. He said he would dissolve the temporary injunction restraining the attorney-general of Illinois from interfering with the imposition of the higher rates.

CUNHA, BRENNAN ARE BEATEN UP IN S. F. BATTLES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—James J. Brennan, former chief deputy district attorney, and Deputy District Attorney Edward Cunha are guests at local hospitals this morning, suffering considerable "indisposition" following their disastrous defeat from the dignity of moral suasion.

REPARTEE FIGURES IN BATTLED EXCHANGE

Cunha, who has not yet been identified, but who enjoyed more than ordinary familiarity with the manly art of the pugilist, suffered a severe blow to the jaw in the fight with Brennan.

REPARTEE FIGURES IN BATTLED EXCHANGE

Cunha, who has not yet been identified, but who enjoyed more than ordinary familiarity with the manly art of the pugilist, suffered a severe blow to the jaw in the fight with Brennan.

CAUSE OF DISPUTE YET IN MYSTERY

The battle is believed to have started as a result of Hecksher's criticisms of the San Mateo youth during a dinner several nights ago. But others professing to be on the inside declare the trouble is far more deeply rooted.

Assemblyman Harry Morrison of San Francisco also staged a disastrous contest last night with an unknown opponent.

Peterson said the two men had conferences in the past two weeks on the matter. Peterson says he is prepared to lay his evidence before the district attorney at once.

On the basis of the statement of the informal hearing before Morse today it developed that the Chinese gamblers named as those who have contributed to the alleged collections by police officers have disappeared.

San Kee, "Little Ernest" and others could not be found today in their usual haunts.

POPPIES WAVE WELCOME TO KHAKI LADS

(Special to The TRIBUNE.)

OROVILLE, April 25.—With shouts and laughter and tears, the men of the 150th Infantry got their first glimpse of California today. They knew they were home, but they had little idea of what a homecoming it was going to be.

Plans for Sunday afternoon's parade of the 150th Infantry and detachments of the 363d and 347th regiments of the 91st division, are fast reaching completion. Present indications are that it will be one of the most memorable events in the history of the Eastbay.

Beginning at 2:30 o'clock at Third and Washington streets, the parade of the 150th Infantry will sing "The Victory Chorus" and "The Song of the Republic" during the march.

Mothers, fathers, wives, sweethearts, sisters, friends had been pouring into the town for hours. From every part of California where a 150th Infantryman enlisted went some woman or man to give him first welcome. The whole countryside nudged away its everyday business and made holiday.

Flowers and banners fluttered early in the breeze and flowers in garlands and masses proclaimed the holiday. For Oroville was the home town of the 150th.

Two other choruses will have a place at the grandstands being built for the kinsfolk of the men who will be in the parade. Still another chorus will take part in the singing of the service in Lakewood park.

Behind the Victory Chorus will come two truckloads of poppies and other wild flowers. Twenty-five girls from the War Camp Community Service will throw the flowers in front of the marching soldiers and a veritable carpet of flowers will be formed upon which will march the soldiers.

There will come the guard of honor composed of members of the Grand Army of the Republic and veterans of the Spanish-American war from E. H. Lippard, Camp No. 7, United States War Veterans. It was suggested that these veterans of other wars be given a place of honor in automobiles.

"Place of honor be —" said one of the oldest among them, "I want to do honor to our sons of whom we are more proud than we can express."

Members of the industrial board of the city hall at 12:30 sharp Sunday afternoon for imperative instructions.

This eleven-hour appeal was made as a result of emergency changes. Lippard said. His notice follows:

"All colonels, majors and captains of the home canvass department who will volunteer to report to their headquarters at the city hall at 12:30 o'clock on Sunday, April 27, for important duty."

Nedderman. Since he has been chief of the city canvass department, he has been infested with crooked gamblers and houses of prostitution have run openly, and members of the department have been in the pay of gamblers during his absence in France.

"This degeneration has incited the police department with politics. Although the majority of men in the department are worthy and honest men, a vicious minority have made an inefficient organization that has not performed its duty by the city of Oakland."

War Songs by Chorus Of 200 Girls to Echo in Streets For 159th Parade

The 150th Regiment is traveling on time and will be in Oakland at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Jesse Robinson, chairman of the reception committee, received today this message from Colonel Farrell, in charge of the regiment:

"My ninth leave Portola 9:45. Arrive Oakland 1 p. m. Sunday. All looking forward to your reception."

RED CAPITAL IS NEAR FALL AS FOE NEARS

BERNE, Switzerland, April 26.—The Czech-Slovak army advancing on Budapest is today reported only 29 miles from the Hungarian capital. It is believed the city's fall is imminent.

The public is earnestly urged by the civic welcome committee to cooperate with the police in keeping the crowds back on the curb line and is requested to leave the lower part of Broadway near Third and Fourth streets clear so that Harry G. Williams, grand marshal of the parade, may have every chance of forming the various units in line.

The route of the parade is given in detail in another column of The TRIBUNE.

COMMUNITY WELCOME AT LAKESIDE PARK

The community welcome service at Lakeside park will begin at 1 o'clock. Jesse Robinson, chairman of the civic welcome committee, will preside. Addresses will be delivered by Mayor John L. Davis and the Rev. William Keene Turner.

Community singing will be led by U. J. Browner, song leader of the War Camp Community Service. The Victory Chorus will sing "The Song of the Republic" during the march.

Wilson Opposed by Premiers; Jugo-Slavs to Resist Ital.

GOVERNMENT OF JUGO-SLAVS CALLS MEN TO DEFEND FIUME

TRIESTE, April 25 (United Press).—The Jugo-Slav government has called three 1919 classes to the colors according to a despatch from Agrani today.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, April 26.—Orders have been sent to Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commanding the American naval forces in the Adriatic, directing him to take exceptional precautions to avoid possible disorders in view of the tension in Italy.

The Italian port of Spalato, which is the headquarters of the American naval forces in the Adriatic, is one of the centers of agitation between the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs.

It is explained that the orders to Admiral Andrews were wholly precautionary and that no reports of disorders in that district had been received.

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA, United Press Staff Correspondent. LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, April 26.—The impression prevails today that the American is a unit in supporting the claims upon which its representatives in the peace conference have taken an irrevocable stand.

Demonstrations continued in every city. Two thousand municipalities wired Foreign Minister Sonnino to remain firm. Every government in Europe is reported to be privately obliged to members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

The fuges of Italy, Fiume and Dalmatia were exhibited at today's demonstration here. A large number of priests participated in the demonstration. The crowds did not attempt to proceed to the American embassy, as all speakers pointed out that Wilson must not be confused with the American people.

Wilson's friendship Italy is determined to retain. The true motive, since Wilson's name was compelled to cover a tarpaulin.

Senator Clossini, minister of education, said in a speech at the King Victor Emmanuel and later returned to lunch with the king.

MAJOR OF ROME ISSUES PROCLAMATION

Prince Colonna, mayor of Rome, issued the following proclamation: "The country will declare it cannot be separated from the government. The Italian nation, for whom we cherish the deepest affection, will appreciate the justification of upholding our sacred rights."

By EDWARD BING, United Press Staff Correspondent. LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE. BUDAPEST, April 26.—An anti-communist conspiracy, organized by former officers of the army and police, has been completely suppressed. Two thousand were arrested and six others sentenced to life imprisonment.

The Romanians have reached the line of Kertesz, Szekes, Kossuth, Lukacs and Matkovic. It was officially announced today. "This is a triumph of about 100 miles, extending from a point 125 miles south of Budapest to the border of the Czech Republic. The victory was secured yesterday, but captured the city of Oradea, near the Tisza river."

APPEAL IS SENT TO DENISE FOR HELP. LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, April 26.—A Rome despatch to the Times today said: "President Wilson's attempt to set the Italian parliament against its government has failed, thanks to Premier Orlando's reply."

"The echo of the demonstrations in every city will tell Wilson that he deceived himself in believing the majority of the people will endorse his attitude."

Deputy Pedersoli, writing in the Italia Nazionale, pointed out that while France again obtains Alsace-Lorraine, the East Asia, Syria and Palestine, the British Empire, Central Africa and retains control of the seas, without raising Wilson's ire, Wilson suddenly finds that Italy's demands constitute imperialism."

TO The Ship Builders and Metal Workers of San Francisco Bay District

The artist who created the Liberty Loan cartoon which shows a mechanic "digging" into his pocket and saying: "SURE! WE'LL FINISH THE JOB," got his inspiration from the men in blue and brown overalls who took the heart out of Germany by building ships faster than the kaiser could sink them.

You, like the man in the cartoon, are entitled to wear the buttons of the four previous loans, for you subscribed handsomely to them all.

The poster is reproduced here as a reminder to all of us that while we had to work hard during the war we stayed at home and were well paid for our efforts. For these reasons we must do our full share now toward paying the fifth and last installment on the big price.

In selecting the shipbuilder as the type of the man who will "put the loan over," the artist paid a tribute that every good American among us will try to deserve.

Since February 15th these columns have been used by us twice a week in an effort to bring employer and employee closer by showing that we are all working on the same job and that your interests are ours, and ours, yours.

We feel that there is nothing that will help to accomplish this more effectively than all joining hands now to put the Fifth Liberty Loan "over."

Each and every one of you, whether citizens of this country or citizens of the world, owe it to your selves to subscribe to this loan. You will be approached by someone, perhaps an employee of the yard in which you work.

The work of soliciting even Liberty Loan subscriptions is hard, and in every case a labor of love for country—so make it as easy as you can by subscribing voluntarily to the utmost of your ability to pay.

ARMY DELAY IS CRITICISED BY CORONER

HAYWARD, April 26.—Lack of cooperation on the part of military authorities of the Presidio in attempting to establish the identity of the body of a soldier found with a slashed throat near Niles a week ago, is charged by Deputy Coroner Lloyd Pratt of this city in a complaint made to military authorities at Washington.

Pratt states that he made repeated attempts to have the military authorities send some one to Hayward to look at the body, compare prints or to otherwise identify the man. He said that not matter to whom he talked the telephone he was referred to someone else.

Colonel Orrin Wolfe, adjutant-general of the Western Department, said yesterday that it would be necessary to send the fingerprints to Washington to find out whether the dead soldier had been discharged or not.

The dead soldier was buried Thursday afternoon and was given a funeral by the military hospital. Deputy Coroner Pratt paid the expense of the funeral. The internment was at Lone Tree cemetery, where high school cadets tried to dig up the coffin as it was lowered into the grave.

The dead soldier had been twice operated upon and Pratt believed that he came to the Letterman hospital. He was a first-class private in the engineer corps. The body lay in the morgue at Hayward for eight days while Pratt attempted to have the body identified. The dead man was about 35 years of age.

Fingerprints which Pratt had taken and turned over to Captain A. M. Brown of Letterman hospital were yesterday forwarded to Washington for identification.

Bairnsfather Pictures Are Popular Hackett Caricatures His Role

By AD SCHUSTER.

A series of Bairnsfather's pictures with James K. Hackett as the only animated cartoon on the legitimate stage, "The Better 'Ole," so delighted a large audience at Ye Liberty theater last evening that Hackett had to project a curtain speech through his vaudeville manager and was given the opportunity to explain that offstage he still retained his former class in favor of humor.

If it were not for its timeliness the play would have a hard time of it, but being a Bairnsfather album of trifle and highly pictures, it was for the most part a success. The original black and white cartoons known around a world, the humor is laid on the blunt pen, the humor is no less broad, and the situations are so ridiculous and funny. Hackett, who bowed up the theater and wins the Victoria Cross, indulges in some of his most humorous horse play while on trial for his life before a court martial, and songs and dances are introduced in a room where a colonel has his headquarters.

Because the play is a sort of caricature of a comic opera and a farce comedy, one does not insist on its "being the thing." It is content to follow the three modern musketeers up to the front line trenches, to hear their snatches of war songs, and to laugh at the jokes that go with the pictures. And as for Hackett—well, consider the flapper who took with her to the theater that magnificent picture she has traced since the misty days of "The Prisoner of Zenda." Her little head is gone and her hair has turned to one of those and bristling hair. He said that the actor stepped into a caricature that is a caricature, that he played the role in that spirit, and that he made Bairnsfather speak in flesh and blood. That is what the play demands. Aside from the caricature of Hackett, and their riding adventures, there are a number of pretty French girls and Tommies to furnish color and song. There are war scenes and screaming shells and there is the extraneously good fun that has been so many times reflected in the pictures and stories that have come from the front.

One carries away to be remembered the picture of Old Bill as created by James K. Hackett, and an appreciation of the art of the actor who knew enough not to try to make a man made of the caricature, Bairnsfather.

"The Better 'Ole" plays to a matinee today and will be seen again this evening at Ye Liberty.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock Monday morning from the local undertaking parlors.

SHOE CONSERVATION

W. H. Kelley, a lumber salesman, of Omaha, found Neolin Soles so tough and durable that one pair of soles served on a second pair of uppers after the first pair of uppers had worn out in ten months of hard walking.

And he says, "Those same soles will stand another ten months of constant day wear."

This is unusual service even for Neolin Soles but Mr. Kelley's experience should indicate to you a method of cutting down those rising shoe bills you have to meet. Simply make sure the new shoes you buy are Neolin-soled and have worn shoes repaired with the Neolin soles which are scientifically made to be comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

Alameda High Shut out by Oakland Nine

Bianchi Allows But One Hit and Helps in the Scoring.

After watching Oakland high school nine hand a beating to Alameda high at Lincoln park by a 4 to 0 score, one would come to the conclusion that it is Oakland high that Technical high will have to beat out in order to cop the championship of the Alameda County High School league. Bianchi of Oakland allowed only one hit off his delivery. With Bianchi doing the hurling for the local school, Alameda looked to be beat from the very first inning when the Oakland boys put over a pair of tallies. Lund was the first batter to face the pitcher of Oakland. He was out in the first.

From the TRIBUNE TOWER

Ninety years from now Captain Walter J. Peterson may have ninety dollars back pay that accumulated through various clerical errors and is somewhere in the archives of the War Department. And Lieutenant Jack Cook is even better off. He has $137 coming when it comes.

Cook's money has been due since a year and a half ago. He is in a claim for it in France. They referred it to general headquarters there, and then he was moved to New York. He put in another claim—and they wrote him asking him if this new claim was a new claim or the old one, and advising him that by Section 45497325 of Subdivision 533475525 of Article 57384523 his second claim could not take precedence over the claim already made and which would have to go through the fourth secretary of the sixth clerk of the seventh aide to the fifth assistant of the three hundred and forty-second chief agent of the paymaster, or words to that effect.

Peterson and Cook are wondering what they'll do with their money when they get it—for they won't be able to "buy" then.

DIGIT OF LAW BECOMING NOBLE.

Inspectors Eddie Wallman, Tom Gallagher and Chief Clerk J. L. Morgan of the Central Police Station may be Hermann some day. They're studying the sleight of hand art of a man who is a reporter who happens to be a slight-of-hand enthusiast "and then some." Now they're busy practicing back-palmings, cards and making coins disappear.

"I have found a pickpocket," said Gallagher, "who is a wonder at this stuff, and he's taught me a fine lot of tricks—but the trouble is that the tricks get him in jail."

Wallman has perfected quite a little act he plans to stage at the Elks some night. The reporter who taught them the first of their tricks is going to promote them for the Society of American Magicians.

"I'd like to know which one of these stole my watch," is the comment of "Bill" Kyle—for somebody in the gang stole his watch and left it in a pawnshop, with a sign, "Take me away for 55 cents." But, anyway—it's great sport.

What You May Do to Improve the Beauty of Your Forehead

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

Study Your Hairline. The beauty of your forehead is governed by three things. The texture of your skin, your hairline and your eyebrows. Its contour you may not control, but since your hairline determines whether your forehead is classed as high or low, you may greatly influence the effect of its contour by the arrangement of your hair.

The ideal forehead looks particularly well with the hair brushed smoothly back. This arrangement becomes very popular since its adoption by a famous prima donna. Not every face can stand this hairline. It usually requires a fine pair of eyes to wear it well, because a great deal of "character" in the expression is necessary to carry this severe coiffure.

If your forehead is too high and protrudes, you should dress your hair so that it falls softly on the forehead, thus cutting down its height. This soft hair dressing may also be accomplished by parting the hair in the middle, puffing it softly out on each side. The parted arrangement of the hair is more apt to show the height of the forehead than the pompadour unless your hair is fine.

The soft pompadour is a better coiffure for the high forehead, although parting the hair on the side and bringing it down on the forehead is frequently becoming.

Having given careful consideration to your hairline you should next analyze in an unflinching way without due regard to the other features has spoiled the beauty of many a face.

Take, for instance, the woman with fairly heavy features. Her brows are apt to be keeping—that is, strongly marked. She thinks out this line to a fine arch with the result that she looks as though something had frightened her. Instead of improving her appearance these disproportionate brows make her ridiculous.

However, if your brows meet in the center, and he noted the expensive lodge emblem that hung below the embonpoint of that luncheon.

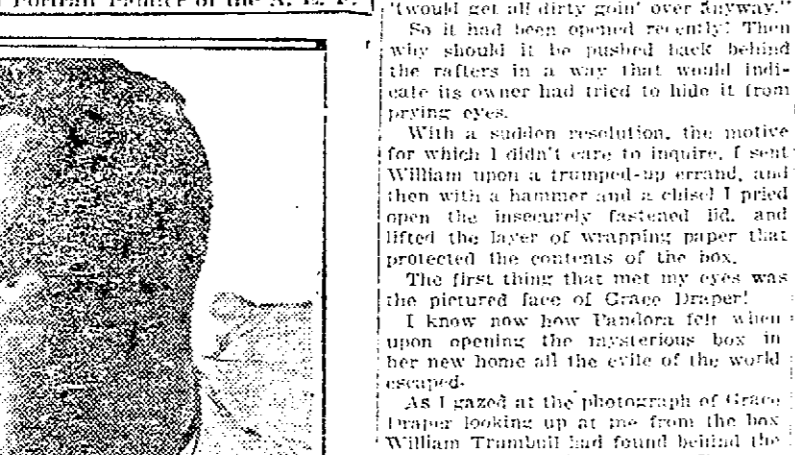

"Shee you's in 'er lodge," he gasped. "Shee right! S'he fine! I'm the Noble Grand!"

"Well, it's a noble grand him you have anyway!" retorted the policeman—and bundled him off to the city hall.

"Sam Dinks—Drunk" says the police blotter.

Jimmy—old-boy!

A LETTER-PLAY By RICHARD WIGHTMAN

Nearly Moral

To J. O. B. HOMELAND

Jim, I was just reading in a Boston newspaper an article by someone who says that the "faculty of intimacy" is a moral gift. If that be true, and if one's morality is in proportion to his possession of the gift of intimacy, I must be nearly as pure as the driven snow.

I don't know everything, but what I know I know well. To smatter is no good. It doesn't get you anywhere. Years ago I learned that. It was beaten into me through my palms. I guess, by Experience, using her very hardest hair-brush. So I have more than a bowing acquaintance with quite a few facts, large and small. I am intimate with them. I ride their necks with nonchalant familiarity.

I can spell cat, for instance, every time. To prove this I will do it here—C-a-t. I absolutely never fail at spelling cat.

I can run Amy. Amy is my car, and is named that because she is a very amiable auto. I know just how much gas to give her on a hill, and just how much the gas costs per gallon. The latter is easy. At the cute garages along the lovely highway, all I have to do is to look at the little round price-signs where they change the figures whenever Mr. Rockefeller either feels well or has something painful the matter with him. And he is sick quite a good deal. Oh, I am intimate with the price of gas.

I know perfectly well what Ed Spooner wants when he comes through my front gate. He is after my lodge dues. Ed never does anything to me but take away my lodge dues. He may possibly say there's a shower coming up, or speak about his sick horse, but that's just before he stings me for the dues. I can count on Ed.

I am intimate with the fact that my hair is getting gray. It's a certainty. But that doesn't faze me. Every new gray hair means simply that I have shed another ounce of foolishness. It's fun—getting rid of foolishness; especially if you can laugh at yourself for being the poor fish that you used to be.

"The faculty of intimacy is a moral gift." Fine business! I'm intimate with you, ain't I, Jim? I spend three cents on you every day, don't I? I must be nearly moral. But there be them around this house who think it's nearly immoral for me to write to you so much. They say I'm a nut!

In looking her fate with Harry Underwood's had given me courage to believe that she would never trouble me again. But the presence of this photograph in a box which Dicky was so evidently preserving with care, filled me with despair and hot contemptuous anger against my husband, who must know where and with whom the girl was, and yet was carefully keeping a memento of her.

I made a hurried investigation of the other contents of the box, and found it was filled with souvenirs of the happier side of Dicky's life. Dance programs, mementos of supper parties, hotel pictures, perfume bottles, letters, postcards, all thrown together in jumbled confusion. There were a number of photographs of Grace Draper, among them one of her taken in the dance hall in which I had once seen her. When she danced the Spanish dance for us in the living room of the old Brennan house.

My inspection of the box brought one gleam of comfort. I remembered that one of Dicky's characteristic traits was his reluctance to throw anything away which had once come into his possession. ### The Day After Tomboy Taylor Went to the Circus Her Mother Nearly Fell Out of the Bathroom Window

3 Minute Journeys

Cairo is a strange city of contrasts. Before the war it was—and now that ways of peace are returning is beginning to be again—a city that attracts the rich of every continent who pass in its continuous sunshine in winter days. But the stream of travelers attracts an even greater stream of the poor who come to reap the harvest of blackbeetles—flies from all the Nile valley.

But there are many honest, hard-working people also in Cairo. They are of all classes, from the donkey drivers to the women who carry great burdens on their heads and trample the streets and from market to market. They are not perhaps the most interesting of the "common workers" seen on the thoroughfares. For they are very different from the common of any city, yet, even where women commonly work.

The Koran—that holy book of the Mohammedans which regulates almost every word of speech as well as act, for its followers—perhaps the veil for women of all classes. He who rich or poor, the Mohammedan woman must hide her face from the gaze of men. Placed over the nose, just below the eyes, the veil covers every other feature of the woman's face, while her turban effectively hides her hair.

Strange as it is, indeed, to see a bare-headed woman leading a horse laden with oranges on her head, reaching straight down the street matted with her piercing eyes, that view among the Mohammedans is the only thing that is not so common. The veil is worn by all women, and every other feature of the woman's face, while her turban effectively hides her hair.

In spite of the Mohammedan laws of the past, a woman with all the modern conveniences of modern science, the destruction of life is not so great in proportion to earlier times when soldiers might lead to lead. The most deadly of all wars was the Roman "short war." An emperor died at the battle of Carthage near Nemaus, his soldiers slew him, and the Roman Empire was founded when the world was the shortest road.

HOW MR. HINES CAN HELP.

Mr. Walker D. Hines, United States director-general of railroads, made the occasion of his address before the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco the opportunity for the utterance of several statements of special interest to the people of the bay district. Two paragraphs will be pleasing to citizens of Oakland and Alameda. In the first Mr. Hines said:

"I want to emphasize the desire of the federal railroad administration to see an adequate development of the ports on the Pacific ocean. From every standpoint this is eminently desirable. I don't believe that the interests of any port of this country should be furthered to lead to the concentration of industry and commerce in a particular section of the country."

And in another connection he uttered the following praiseworthy sentiment:

"I am a great believer in the view that this country is too big for anybody in Washington to know the whole situation, and that the more we can get in touch with the local agencies and understand the local point of view the more we will accomplish our ideal of rendering a proper public service at proper rates. So that I am endeavoring through those methods to get in touch with this situation and to deal with it in a fair way, and to exercise with an adequate understanding the great responsibility which has temporarily been conferred on the President and by him on the director general."

Now, if Mr. Hines is emphatically in favor of any project for the adequate development of Pacific Coast ports he will consult the views of Eastbay citizens with reference to the improvement of navigation in Oakland inner harbor and the estuary. At present there are two obsolete, obstructive railroad bridges across the estuary. They are a hindrance to the navigation of the estuary. Harbor facilities, terminal accommodations and industry destined to be created east of those bridges are impossible so long as the bridges remain.

The people of the Eastbay cities over two years ago asked permission of the federal government to remove the present bridges and construct in their place a modern bridge of the lift, or bascule, type.

The War Department received that request favorably and issued an order that the old bridges be removed. The Southern Pacific railroad entered into a solemn and formal understanding with Alameda county regarding the construction and operation of the new bridge. The people of the county voted a bond issue of $900,000 to defray the county's share—one-half—of the cost of construction.

Then the war came on. Southern Pacific officials observed the war as a medium for escaping fulfillment of the railroad's obligations under this contract. They secretly appealed to the director-general of railroads, then Mr. William G. McAdoo, to interfere in their behalf. A former Southern Pacific official, Judge Robert S. Lovett, then one of Mr. McAdoo's chief advisers and exercising considerable authority and influence as chairman of the war priorities board, lent a helpful hand to the railroad's intrigue.

As a consequence construction of the new bridge and removal of the old bridges has not been started.

It may be pleasant for the director-general of railroads to formulate amiable phrases for the edification of members and guests of the Commonwealth Club; the latter may be agreeably affected by their delivery. But if Mr. Hines is sincere he will make deeds square with promises. He will reopen the estuary bridge question which has been closed as the result of the political maneuver of a railroad corporation, and he will see that it is settled in conformity with the plans for the development of the Eastbay harbor.

A London killjoy predicts another world war in 1926. He claims to have prophesied the last one a year in advance of its beginning. Also the exact date of cessation of hostilities some little time before that date was fixed. He elucidates to the effect that this forthcoming war will be regarded as Prussia's counter, "the malevolent forces taking their rise in Berlin and Vienna, ascending to Petrograd, penetrating through the whole of Russia and descending via the Black sea and Turkey in Asia into Syria and Palestine." But in the end another allied victory is predicted. This prophet attracts rather more attention than most of them do through being able to promulgate his prophecies in the British Journal of Astrology, a publication that has a certain standing.

WELCOME THE 159TH.

Alameda county's own war-time regiment, the 159th Infantry, formerly the Fifth California, is scheduled to arrive home Sunday afternoon. The first contingent is expected to land at the Third and Broadway station about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. All Alameda county should be on hand somewhere along the line of march from the station to voice a rousing welcome. Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, the other municipalities and the county districts should be represented en masse.

Let all the citizens turn out to welcome their own regiment of fighters. Make it a great spectacle. The opportunity comes only once and fleetingly. After the regiment leaves Oakland Sunday evening for the demobilization camp at the Presidio the show will be disbanded and the act impossible of repetition.

Remember to be along the line of March in Oakland Sunday afternoon. Make the soldiers feel that they are really home among their friends and kinsfolk.

GOVERNMENT BY PERSONAL WHIMS.

New York officials of the Postoffice Department on Monday prohibited the transmission over the wires of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Company of an article prepared by a New York news organization for the use of its newspaper clients which analyzed the activities of the Postoffice Department and contained some criticism of Postmaster-General Burleson. The latter is also the director-general of the telegraph utilities.

Following this amazing procedure Mr. Burleson gave out in Washington an explanatory statement in which he asserted that an organized propaganda had been inaugurated in an effort to "destroy him." Subsequently, to the credit of Mr. Burleson, an order was issued at the Postoffice Department by which the employees of the telegraph systems were to suspend their regulations against transmission of "libelous matter" in so far as such matter may relate to the Postmaster-General.

Thus it would appear that after two or three days' delay it is possible, through the gracious self-abnegation of Postmaster-General Burleson, to transmit from one city to another an article intended for publication constituting a critical analysis of the Postoffice Department.

That such power was exercised by subordinates of Mr. Burleson will no doubt surprise a great many persons. It is not enough that Mr. Burleson, in a spirit of fair play, waives the regulation in favor of his critics; his employees should not have and should never have had the power to suppress unfavorable comment regarding his official acts or the department over which he rules.

Such episodes as these raise in the hearts of the people a fervent prayer that America will soon get back to the Republic—get back to a government of law and away from a government of bureaucratic dictation and executive decrees.

The Army and Navy Journal publishes an article treating of the advanced ages of the French generals in the late war and comparing them with the ages of generals in other wars. The youngest in 251 brigade generals is 41 years, in 118 division generals 50, while the marshals are beyond 60. Napoleon was 25 when he emerged upon Europe, and many of his most famous generals were similarly youthful. In the American civil war Hooker was 49 at Chancellorsville, Grant 43 at Appomattox, Sherman 44 when he broke away from his base and went marching to the sea, and Sheridan 33 when he made that ride to Winchester and turned back with profanity his retreating forces. Meade was 47 at Gettysburg and McClellan 36 at Antietam. The Confederate leaders averaged older—Albert Sidney Johnston and Robert E. Lee were 58, Joe Johnston 54, Longstreet 40, though Stonewall Jackson was but 30. Which may not prove anything in particular, but is rather interesting nevertheless.

Former Senator Bailey is not the only Democrat to speak out and discuss the trend of the party. The Hon. James S. Ford of Boston has been expressing himself even in a more decided way than the Texan. He opines that the question, "Who is a Democrat?" is bound to suggest itself to many who have been faithful to the principles of democracy as laid down by Jefferson. He contends that thousands have been amazed at some of the policies and acts of the present administration, and have been under a strain to keep in line. "They have wondered who is a Democrat and what has come to be democracy as they have seen the administration link itself with Socialists and radicals of the most dangerous sort." One of the fundamental principles of the Democratic party was the safeguarding of State sovereignty; but that seems to have been totally abandoned by the Wilsonian type of Democrat. This introspection among the Democrats is significant.

NOTES and COMMENT

Burleson appears to be working manfully to queer the administration and his persistent vogue is apparently due to the fact that his superior is standing so abjectly to other nations' affairs. There is an extended American citizenship which would not worry about the resulting political aspects if the business situation was not so vitally concerned.

The usual things are being said about the legislature now that it has adjourned. They are hackneyed and futile. They have been said about every legislature and similar reverberations are heard from other states. But there appears to be not the least idea of doing anything about it. We growl and complain, and sometimes shiver when the legislature is in session, but when the time comes we elect another just like it and turn it loose to perform in the same way. As long as we do this we are ethically estopped from complaining.

In the early days Washoe was one of the most famous mining camps. It figured not only in statistics of production, but in the romances and tales. The name itself had an undignified sound. Now it is no more, having disappeared from off the earth, as so many other camps once thriving with life have disappeared. The departure of the last inhabitant has been announced.

President Wilson's stand as to Italy has made a hit with Senator Johnson. What is very desirable at this juncture, however, is peace. California's Junior Senator's proclivities and temperament have not always discouraged strife. Besides, it may be said with some justification that the President is butting in in a matter that this nation might better have been reluctant about till importuned to take the lead.

All those who have been building hopes on the failure of the war prohibition measure to function will not be heartened to read that the department of justice is "going to it." When the federal government takes a hand it is serious to defy or to try to "fix it."

The American people realize that they are being made to cut too great a figure in the peace negotiations. The idea conveyed by the news despatches is that this country's representative is pretty well the whole thing. It is almost certain that that was not the popular American idea at the outset.

Mexico informs the world that it doesn't believe in the Monroe doctrine. Yet the greatest occasion on which the Monroe doctrine was potent was when it was recited by the United States government to foreign governments resulted in the withdrawal of Maximilian from Mexico and freed that country from invasion.

State Superintendent Wood is of the opinion that now the war is over the schools should step out and give the schools an opportunity to do real work. In accordance with this idea a conference of superintendents and representatives of teachers of the bay region has been called.

The Stockton Record merely states a fact: "It cost $1200 for a legislative committee to find out that prices of food are high and that nothing can be done about it as far as the people are concerned."

Gustatory item from the Red Bluff News: "We will miss our greatest exhibition of eating crowd when the peace treaty, done up neatly in a league of nations, is presented for ratification to the Senate of the United States."

The Santa Rosa Republican moralizes unbecomingly: "If the good the young lots of old folks in the world are in a mighty embarrassing position."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

Away up in Trinity county, "20 miles from a lemon," they have other problems. Some of the school houses are so far from the homes that it is hard to find boarding places for the teachers. One of the school boards proposed to fix up the attic at the school house for teacher to live in. "Why, the very idea," said the pretty Chico normal students, "of going up a ladder to roost at night in a lonely school house miles and miles from a home!" That settled it—Stockton Record.

Here is a mere man editor suggesting that most of the enormous amount of knitting done by women for the war was accomplished at odd moments and he assumes they would otherwise have been wasted. Somehow, not all men seem to have grasped the fact yet that women threw overboard about everything they do ordinarily, except the bare essentials, to devote themselves to war work—Stockton Record.

When Senator Harris of Fresno charged Senator Scott of San Francisco, formerly of Fresno, with always voting on the side of vice when an issue of vice or virtue was up, he was, of course, entirely accurate in his statement of fact. But the very fact that such a charge could be made with truth is a rather startling example of conditions of San Francisco politics. For Senator Scott is personally a respectable enough man—Fresno Republican.

It must be agreed that William R. Hearst, who has fallen heir by the will of his lately deceased and highly esteemed mother, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, to the Hearst ranch at Palmdale, is reputedly and undoubtedly possessed of the chief requirement to make a first-class Rutte county taxpayer—Chico Enterprise.

Realizing that the city needs more revenue, City Assessor Moody has been assessing chickens. Maybe the assessor is right, but with feed at its present price a non-laying hen is no asset.—San Diego Union.

SEA FOOD AND GEOGRAPHY

Now that the seas are open to the pursuits of peace, and the world is sorely in need of food, many problems of ocean geography are likely to be solved in the course of the quest for deep sea nations according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"The ocean literally teems with food," says the bulletin. "The man who declared that humanity is a race of herring-catchers might have overstated the case, but that the sea abounds in food-fishes and fishes fit for food is well known. As soon as we begin to study the subject of ocean fisheries, however, we come up short against the fact that what we really know about the inhabitants of the sea is startlingly limited."

"It was not so long ago that the fishermen of the North Sea believed that whales brought the herring in toward shallow water—a conclusion they reached from the observation that schools of herring are frequently found in the vicinity of spouting whales. In 1906 there was a failure of the herring fisheries, and the fishermen blamed the situation on the Norwegian whaling vessels operating in that region."

"Likewise, it is still a moot question whether or not modern fishing methods tend to deplete the supply, and whether artificial propagation of sea fishes is a sufficient counter-measure. A few years ago a British commission measured the intensity of fishing operations in the North Sea. Trailing bottles were set afloat, and it was found that more than half of them were recaptured. In certain localities they were captured at a rate that indicated 90 per cent recaptured each season. Marked fish yielded largely similar results, and the conclusion was that a good-fish of adult size had at least three to one against its getting through the year uncaught."

"And yet there is so little race suicide in the ocean that even such intensive fishing probably has no effect upon the available adult supply. For instance, the female turbot lays 8,500,000 eggs a year, and the cod has 4,500,000 to her credit. The female flounder lays 1,400,000, the sole 370,000, the haddock 450,000 and the plaice 200,000. The poor herring must be content with a meager 31,600."

"Much remains to be learned about the migration habits of the world's food fishes. Where do the salmon go after they leave the rivers? Why does the cod, as discovered sometime since by the Danes, go far out to sea, far to the south and west of the Irish coast, to spawn, and how do the countless herds of delicate fishes find their way around the British Isles and into the continental rivers? Innumerable are the questions like these that the future will reveal to the oceanographers of a new day."

"The problem of life in the ocean is one full of interest and pregnant with valuable lessons for mankind. Even at the bottom of the deepest trench in the abyssal region of the sea's bottom, where no ray of sun ever penetrated, where Elysian might be supposed to prevail, and where temperatures near zero degrees prevail, the miracle of the still goes on."

"Gigantic creatures exist in these uttermost depths. Here is a fish swimming by with light-giving organs ranged in rows from nose to tail, on port and starboard sides, a fantastic miniature of an ocean liner, alight from stem to stern, gliding noiselessly through the perpetual night. There is another, with a well-defined searchlight with which to explore the darkness around. Here is a breathing creature of a normal build with blue-colored, and there a creature whose eyes are upon the ends of long stalks reaching out from the head like sunflowers from the ground."

THE VICTORS RETURN

We greet you honored heroes,
You of the noble birth,
Ordained in hallowed glory,
Freemen of the earth.

The task was yours.
You nobly did your part,
Who trod in danger's path,
Yours was the victory.

Proud are we to mingle
With you of patriotic strain;
You who won the laurels,
Your deeds we now acclaim.

We heard the sounds of victory
From far across the seas,
We wept in joyous ecstasy,
Our emblem waved for thee.

Return, oh, noble heroes,
To our gladdened shores,
With ships festooned with glory,
Triumphant as of yore.
THOMAS PATRICK HENRY,
Alameda, April, 1919.

Real Job.

He had been discharged from his infantry company, seen the folks at home, and the other day walked into the marine recruiting office and asked to be enlisted.

"Evidently you didn't get enough of it in France," remarked the sergeant as he filled out the forms. "It ain't that," said the man. "I've discovered that the army is the one job in which they can't fire you."—Los Angeles Times.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Why Very Careful Diagnosis Is Needed to Cure Psoriasis

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

As a rule, a mild type of psoriasis, a scaly, itching malady of the skin, associated with good general health! The skin trouble is revealed by slight elevation above the epiderm of the tissues forming the "papillary" layer. The tissues are full of small leucocytes and the connective tissue are enlarged. This condition produces the distension of the cutis which causes the deeper layer to peel and to be converted into a mass of scales which cover the patches. The scales are not adherent and are easily removed with the finger-nail or a rough cloth.

When the scales have been scratched off a rose-red surface appears consisting of the juicy cells which have been injured by the removing of the scales produce ununiform hemorrhages, which are considered the sign of psoriasis and not eczema. Eczema has no such "bleeding" joints. We say an ordinary type of psoriasis is easily cured. Subcutaneous injections of 10 per cent cacodylic acid solution give splendid results some times. At times four injections of this solution have been sufficient to remove psoriatic patches, which gradual will disappear.

Externally the use of a carbol acid solution or an ointment of white precipitate of mercury and carbolic acid had helped to remove the patches. Occasionally a few applications of tar and cod liver oil in equal parts at night are sufficient to remove the scales and to reduce the psoriatic patches, which gradual will disappear.

The use of the great reducing agents, chrysarobin and pyrogallol has to be limited only to stubborn instances of deep form, and not much extended on the surface of the skin. Chrysarobin and pyrogallol, extensive and protracted use, cause a stubborn dermatitis which some times is difficult to treat successfully.

Here you have a choice of a variety of accepted treatments for the very prevalent affliction. With series of 50 patients, under three different treatments, the average of results combined with diets, rest, prove that about one-third of them are cured, one-third greatly improved and one-third but slightly benefited.

The upshot of this is that the victim of psoriasis has two chances to be cured, one as far as present knowledge is concerned, to be helped. Vigorous attention and particular treatment to fit the skin of the victim in question may restore the skin to a most healthy state.

Salves, diets, medicines and other methods are worthless if the individual is not studied and investigated chemically, biologically, dietetically, physiologically and otherwise.

TODAY, HONOR DAY, SEES BIG LOAN ACTIVITY

The tanks are here, shooting up the town.

A great thermometer, telling of the subscriptions to the Victory Loan, has been erected in the plaza, alongside the Liberty Hut.

Elephants and other animals, loaned by the State circus, are parading the town this afternoon for the Victory Loan.

Alameda county is expected to subscribe its third million by tonight.

Pleasanton Township expects to fulfill its whole quota by tonight.

These are but a few of the features which are helping to make today, "Honor Day," memorable for the Victory Loan campaign. "It's getting to be a real campaign," says the Victory Loan committee.

The heavy whippet tank, camouflaged and under the direction of Sergeant H. F. Roberts and Trumpey T. A. Johnson, passed the night in the fire headquarters at the city hall. This morning at 8:30 the program started. It left the city hall, went to the banks and free markets, paraded to Moore shipyard and then rambled about town, firing its guns.

PARADE FOR TONIGHT.

The Shriners parade tonight, with the fire engines assisting to make the celebration memorable. The whippet tank will assist.

Tomorrow the tank will participate in the homecoming parade for the Oakland boys from the Ninety-first division, and will fire its guns in salute.

And the Victory Loan committee has arranged a handsome float for that parade, showing that the work of these Oakland soldiers must be completed by Oakland citizens, so that the job will be finished forever.

All the departments of the Victory Loan campaign are now running at full speed.

The speakers' bureau of the Victory Loan, under General Chairman Joseph J. Dunn, includes C. S. Price and O. D. Hamilton Jr., is now fully organized and is handling the assignments of speakers and meetings in every place throughout the city. Monday, April 28, a large meeting will be held in the auditorium theater for the Victory Loan workers. Speakers for this meeting have also been obtained from the returning regiments and will relate their first-hand experiences with the Hun. These men are fresh from the front and have interesting stories to tell. Meetings will be held at every one of the large industrial plants throughout the city, and at every school.

Among the volunteers who have donated their services to aid the "buckaroos" are: Judge J. Allen, F. L. Arbogast, Harry S. Bell, Judge Everett Brown, Perry Burlingame, W. P. Bunker, R. M. Butts, M. C. Carey, Frank M. Carr, Ray C. Clarke, L. B. Church, J. H. Clay, Peter Crosby, S. J. Chuso, James Carter, Ezra Decoto, Clinton Dodge, Carter W. H. Donahue, D. C. Dutton, C. Dehneisen, E. F. Engle, Robert Fitzgerald, William J. Friend, F. B. Fernbach, Chris Fox, Col. Faneuf, George Gelder, John Gault, W. H. L. Hynes, William J. Hayes, Calder Innes, James J. Jones, Gilbert Jones, J. H. Keady, Rev. C. L. Kloss, Joseph Knowland, J. J. Long, T. J. Ledwith, H. C. Morrison, J. R. Munsel, J. H. MacFarland, Greene Majors, Judge Frank Mitchell, Charles E. Snook, Irving Magnus, David Oliphant Jr., F. G. Ostrander, James Robinson, E. C. Robinson, J. J. Rosborough, H. C. Reynolds, Judge G. Samuels, Dr. E. L. Sillsley, Charles Secombe, Harry Schroder, H. K. Schierenbeck, T. S. Shine, L. E. Voyer, Rev. James Whitaker, Earl Warren, John Weitz, John W. Young.

MANY SUBSCRIBING.

Subscriptions are flooding in for "Honor Day." Many persons whose subscriptions were good in the war drives have found themselves able to exceed their former amount in this Victory Loan, buying not only out of patriotism, but because of the intelligent investment offered.

"If we can make all the people understand that this Victory Loan is a four-year note with 4 1/2 per cent interest, there will be little doubt of the people taking the loan," says the Victory Loan committee.

Motorman Cleared; Company Is Blamed

Although Motorman Kendall Cates, operating a street car which on April 15 killed 11-year-old William James Hitchens, was exonerated from blame, the coroner's jury last night held the San Francisco-Oakland Railway Company responsible because of the motorman's inexperience. The motorman was arrested and charged with manslaughter after the accident.

Injured Persons

F. P. Dixon demands $10,750 damages from the Southern Pacific Company in a suit filed today, alleging injuries received in a collision between the plaintiff's automobile and a train on Adelphi street April 27, 1918. Dixon was a driver for the Moore Shipyard, earning $5.40 a day, and alleges that his injuries incapacitated him from further work.

Isabelle Johnson asks for $22,678 from the San Francisco-Oakland Traction Company for injuries alleged to have been received by being thrown from the steps of a street car which started without warning when she was boarding it on Broadway in September, 1918. The plaintiff says the injuries deprived her of earning $15 a week and caused her suffering.

FIVE ARE INJURED WHEN AUTOS CRASH

Five persons are suffering from painful injuries today as the result of a collision last night when an automobile driven by F. L. Hunt, 3424 Haley street, crashed into a machine driven by George Sweet of 821 Adeline street. The accident occurred at First and Twelfth streets, just east of the Twelfth street dam.

Hunt, his wife, his son, F. R. Hunt, Martin Zache and Dorothy Zache, neighbors of the Hunts, were thrown from the Hunt machine, sustaining painful bruises and lacerations. They were removed to the Emergency hospital and later to their homes. Sweet escaped unhurt, and his machine was hardly scratched.

Two men and two girls riding on a single motorcycle, figured in a crash with an automobile on Telegraph avenue last night, as the result of which two of them have fractured bones.

On the motorcycle were Darnell Muir, Fred Grover and Eunice and Phyllis Dugmore, sisters. Near Fifty-fifth street they collided with an automobile driven by H. L. Leonard of 1713 Ellis street, San Francisco. Grover has a fractured right arm and Eunice Dugmore a fractured left leg. The accident happened shortly before midnight.

James Gray, a policeman, who lives at 1421 Seventy-sixth avenue, was struck by an automobile while going home last night and was injured about the head and legs. With the automobile driver, who was stopped off the car at East Fourteenth street and Seventy-sixth avenue, when an automobile driven by George Fukujuni of San Leandro ran into him. Gray was taken to his home.

Shriners to Parade for Tonight's Rally

In full Shrine regalia, the Patrol and band of Ashmees Temple will march through the streets of Oakland tonight to participate in the first great downtown Victory loan rally.

The rally will be held on the new platform erected on the Washington-street entrance of the city hall, with searchlights giving illumination.

Among the speakers will be the Rev. William Keedy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, and two veterans from the 363d Infantry, which just returned from France—Sergeant O. W. Olsen and Private W. T. Straud.

LT. BUNKERS RETURNS FROM KIEL VOYAGE

Lieutenant Harry Bunkers, U. S. N., who for fourteen months sailed on the Ball, the largest of the Dutch ships commandeered for the American navy overseas, making nine hazardous voyages and carrying cargoes of horses, ammunition, automobiles and supplies to foreign ports, has returned to his home, 2508 East Twenty-first street, where he declares he is quite willing to remain.

When the Ball sailed on February 15 with 8000 tons of American-made goods, she was the first food ship to enter Northern Europe. At Copenhagen, where her cargo was unloaded, the entire populace turned out to do homage to the United States sailor and at the Hotel Haden a great reception was given in honor of Captain Ferguson, Food Administrator Sweden, and Lieutenant Bunkers.

The mayor of Copenhagen, Hans Christian Andersen, and great numbers of representatives of the Danish government and leading citizens participated in the public function which welcomed the first arrival of foodstuffs.

OVER PATH OF MINES.

The Ball was the second ship to go through the Kiel canal since the signing of the armistice. Three German pilots led the way over the dangerous path of mines and explosives. One pilot, familiar to the crew of 21 officers and 85 men, had sailed 200 pounds to 100 pounds. He had not tasted butter in three years nor white bread in 42 months.

"Eat and get back your weight," invited the captain.

"If it were not for you Americans I would not be in this condition," he answered.

"The children and women along the banks of the canal feared and made faces at the American men."

"They are a hungry looking lot," said Lieutenant Bunkers, "and I hope they will get back their weight."

Through our glasses we could see that farms had been abandoned and crops unplanted. They are a broken people.

It was on March 22 that the Ball went through the 51-mile canal on its way to Heligoland.

ANY UNDETERMINED.

"Thousands of children have been born without father or mother because of the undernourishment of their mothers," explains the Oakland officer.

"Denmark is in good condition, but in Norway the people are starving. They said what they had to the Germans and when they made a plea for help they were told to get on with the German dollars. All Europe is hungry."

"God strike the Bolshevists and the Kaiser! They have been tortured on the barbed wire and chains of the American men who have been prisoners in the German camps, according to stories which the crew of the Ball brought home. There men are said to be on the way home at the present time by way of Copenhagen. There are no words to tell the cruelty which the Germans have practiced," declares Lieutenant Bunkers.

AMERICAN "KID" ON JOE.

"It gets on your nerves after a while," he says, "and a fellow goes all at pieces, but the American kid stays right on the job. There is nothing that can beat this same American kid. He won the war."

Lieutenant Bunkers put the Ball into commission when it was taken over by the government and served as an officer on her continuously for fourteen months. The longest period of time he was absent from duty was 15 hours. He touched at most of the foreign ports. At times the conveyer unloaded 52 ships. Once in the English channel an overboard was made with a submarine, but no lives were lost. The greatest danger came in the jamming at night when the ships sailed without lights.

The Ball is at present in New York harbor, loading for Constantinople.

"I'm glad it's all over," declares the Oakland officer. "I'm home to stay."

GIRLS' COOTIE CLUB.

ROCKFORD, Ill.—Girls of Rockford have formed a post-war social club called the "Cooties." "We stick closer than a brother" is their motto.

FIGURES SHOW GROWTH.

"Early in 1914 I had occasion to request from Postmaster Robinson the total postoffice receipts for that year in connection with the present year of the national postoffice for Oakland. They totaled about $300,000. A few months ago I made the same request and was surprised to find that the national receipts had mounted to nearly $800,000. The banknotes for 1914 were given as $175,000,000, and for 1918 they had increased to about $240,000,000. Factory building permits in 1914 were $56,500, and in 1918 were $2,000,000. The school attendance has jumped in three years from 22,000 to over 20,000.

"When I left in 1914 the number of industrial wage earners was about 8000, and in 1918 they had increased to nearly 40,000. In 1914 there was practically no shipbuilding done in Oakland harbor, and in 1918 we were producing over 20 per cent of the steel ships of the Nation. At the present time we have over $2,000,000 worth of unfinished government work alone on our books. In this estimate I do not include a possible development of the present Government Island lease into a great merchant fleet base, nor the possible construction of a great naval base at Alameda, either of which projects will involve the expenditure of millions."

DEVELOP RAIL TERMINES.

"While I do not believe that we are to see complete government ownership of railroads, I am sure in saying that even the private owners of railroads agree that a certain amount of government control in the matter of uniform issue of railway stocks and bonds, of joint use of terminals, supervision of new construction and the like will be retained by the government. Such a future program will inevitably involve a great development in Oakland, which is the largest transcontinental terminus on the Pacific Coast."

"Industrial development and building construction of all kinds will henceforth go forward at a rapid pace. Above anything seen in the past, the prospect is one of pride and gratification to all of the Eastbay communities which, in reality, constitute one great metropolitan area of nearly 350,000 inhabitants."

I am sure the people of Berkeley, Alameda and the other Eastbay cities recognize their unity with Oakland and fully appreciate that their destiny is tied with Oakland's great growing unity which will become closer as all of Oakland's endeavors make for the prosperity of each and every community. Oakland, in other like institutions and projects, is generous and wholehearted as if they were within her borders. Your Chamber of Commerce devotes as much time to such matters as to those which might be called her own. All of the adjoining cities naturally look to Oakland for leadership in all Eastbay activities."

Two Men Arrested as Holdup Suspects

Tony Sanders and Roy Dutcher were arrested last night on a charge of robbing Charles Gray, 708 Washington street. The arrests were made by Patrolman William Hildman and Special Officer Frank Baker, who found the pair in a saloon shortly after Gray had been held up.

According to Gray, he was walking home about 2 o'clock this morning when at Eleventh and Webster streets, the two men approached him and demanded his money. They became rough and abusive, he says, and grabbed him, taking a small amount of money he had.

Newsboys Arrested for Robbing Envoy

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Julius News, deputy Nicaraguan consul general, was held up by four boys and beaten up after being robbed of 50 cents on Sutter street, morning. Police and Larkin early this morning. He was taken to the Central Hospital for treatment after reporting the assault to Police Officer Thomas Egan, who arrested the following: John Sheehan, 808 Kearns street, 21; James McKenna, 15, all newsboys.

Banqueters Fooled by Bathing Girls Sea Beauties Only Five Years Old Manufacturers Enjoy Big Program

The third annual banquet of the manufacturers' committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce was held last night in the ivory ballroom of the Hotel Oakland and was one of the most successful events ever held by the committee.

There were nearly 400 guests in attendance. A long program of entertainment features was presented and each number drew applause.

John H. Miller was toastmaster. In addition to the three principal speakers of the evening, there were several soloists, an orchestra, singing by the Rotary quartet, bathing girls represented by a dozen little tots 4 or 5 years old, Scotch dancing and singing and community singing led by Larry Moore, and numerous convalescents were distributed.

Nicholas M. Van der Pyl, Congressman, U. S. Arthur Elston and Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter were the speakers. Van der Pyl, who is touring the country in the interest of the reconstruction program of the United States Department of Labor, told of the responsibility of the United States in the great world war. He told of the general unrest throughout the world and made a plea for a return of the old spirit of human interest and co-operation between employer and employee.

"This old-fashioned human relationship must be restored if we are to overcome this growing spirit of selfishness and distrust," said the speaker, "and the employer must learn that a faithful employee is one of his greatest assets." Van der Pyl urged the business men present to appoint a personnel department in their company for the purpose of fostering a better feeling between themselves and the men who work for them.

Congressman J. Arthur Elston told of the duplication of systems in handling government business and urged the need of a budget system to prevent waste and extravagance in the expenditure of money by the government. He said that at present there are nine or ten appropriating committees in Congress, where there should be but one. Also he said that there is no department of the government which should be reformed if the best service is expected.

Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter advocated universal training of citizenship up to the age of 18 years, and told of the need in the public school system of machinery for Americanization work. He said that while Oakland stands as high as any other city in California as regards its public school system, still there is room for improvement.

"America is in a position to glorify the democracy of the world," said Hunter, "but if we are to accomplish this we must extend our schools until they reach all classes of our citizenship. It is only through the education of the people that the ignorant minds that Bolshevism, anarchism and kindred evils exist," said the speaker, "and if all of the young people are given a little training in the schools we have little to fear. In fact, if we properly prepare the minds of the people, the seeds of Bolshevism will never take root, even if they are sown."

Congressman Elston said in part: "The people of Oakland do not realize the full magnitude of the development of our Eastbay metropolises. Since 1914 we have been almost continuously in Washington, and this distance has enabled me better to estimate the tremendous advance we have made, and the progress we are making as to our future."

FIGURES SHOW GROWTH.

"Early in 1914 I had occasion to request from Postmaster Robinson the total postoffice receipts for that year in connection with the present year of the national postoffice for Oakland. They totaled about $300,000. A few months ago I made the same request and was surprised to find that the national receipts had mounted to nearly $800,000. The banknotes for 1914 were given as $175,000,000, and for 1918 they had increased to about $240,000,000. Factory building permits in 1914 were $56,500, and in 1918 were $2,000,000. The school attendance has jumped in three years from 22,000 to over 20,000.

"When I left in 1914 the number of industrial wage earners was about 8000, and in 1918 they had increased to nearly 40,000. In 1914 there was practically no shipbuilding done in Oakland harbor, and in 1918 we were producing over 20 per cent of the steel ships of the Nation. At the present time we have over $2,000,000 worth of unfinished government work alone on our books. In this estimate I do not include a possible development of the present Government Island lease into a great merchant fleet base, nor the possible construction of a great naval base at Alameda, either of which projects will involve the expenditure of millions."

DEVELOP RAIL TERMINES.

"While I do not believe that we are to see complete government ownership of railroads, I am sure in saying that even the private owners of railroads agree that a certain amount of government control in the matter of uniform issue of railway stocks and bonds, of joint use of terminals, supervision of new construction and the like will be retained by the government. Such a future program will inevitably involve a great development in Oakland, which is the largest transcontinental terminus on the Pacific Coast."

"Industrial development and building construction of all kinds will henceforth go forward at a rapid pace. Above anything seen in the past, the prospect is one of pride and gratification to all of the Eastbay communities which, in reality, constitute one great metropolitan area of nearly 350,000 inhabitants."

I am sure the people of Berkeley, Alameda and the other Eastbay cities recognize their unity with Oakland and fully appreciate that their destiny is tied with Oakland's great growing unity which will become closer as all of Oakland's endeavors make for the prosperity of each and every community. Oakland, in other like institutions and projects, is generous and wholehearted as if they were within her borders. Your Chamber of Commerce devotes as much time to such matters as to those which might be called her own. All of the adjoining cities naturally look to Oakland for leadership in all Eastbay activities."

Two Men Arrested as Holdup Suspects

Tony Sanders and Roy Dutcher were arrested last night on a charge of robbing Charles Gray, 708 Washington street. The arrests were made by Patrolman William Hildman and Special Officer Frank Baker, who found the pair in a saloon shortly after Gray had been held up.

According to Gray, he was walking home about 2 o'clock this morning when at Eleventh and Webster streets, the two men approached him and demanded his money. They became rough and abusive, he says, and grabbed him, taking a small amount of money he had.

Newsboys Arrested for Robbing Envoy

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Julius News, deputy Nicaraguan consul general, was held up by four boys and beaten up after being robbed of 50 cents on Sutter street, morning. Police and Larkin early this morning. He was taken to the Central Hospital for treatment after reporting the assault to Police Officer Thomas Egan, who arrested the following: John Sheehan, 808 Kearns street, 21; James McKenna, 15, all newsboys.

Caspar Robinson, 557 Grove street, 18; George McLaughlin, Bronx Hotel, 26; James McKenna, 15, all newsboys.

Music of Easter to Be Repeated

The music of Easter Sunday will be repeated at the 11 and 12.15 services of St. Mark's church, 607 Broadway, at different times tomorrow. The repetition of this music will be in accord with the many written requests of the large number of worshippers who have attended the services.

The sermons at both these services will be preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. E. J. O'Connell. On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be St. Rita devotion, a meditation and prayer service, followed by a sermon consisting of purgatorial devotions, a sermon by the Rev. Bernard Dickinson and a collection. On Monday morning there will be an exposition of the Blessed Sacrament during the day with the devotions of the Holy Hour in two forms.

TENTH AVENUE BAPTIST

The members of the Tenth Avenue Baptist church are making a collection

We are not informed as to the evening, though, but services are always held in the hall, and the speaker is never disappointed with.

THEOPHOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

Three lectures on up-to-date subjects from the viewpoint of Theosophy, and the first of these, "Theosophy and the Occult," will be given by Mr. W. L. Rieu, assistant lecturer for the Theosophical Society, who has been returned and is now on his tour of travel, where he spent last year of his building war specimens for the Australian Government.

DAY'S EVENTS IN WORLD OF FINANCE

STRAWBERRIES TO EMPOWER GROWERS

tain the number of bidders grows larger, the strawberry crop is becoming very fast and present. Much more is anxious to get the price of the crop.

Alameda county berry growers are now getting along with the new season's crop. A heavy yield. Vines are reported to be in very healthy and promising condition. A important factor in berry cultivation the new season is the fact that vines are said to be coming well.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, April 28.—Heavy cotton buying marked the opening of the cotton market today with first prices about points higher. The buying was based on an unfavorable weather map with more optimistic feeling regarding an early detachment and the bullish report from the south. The market was two days adjournment ahead, shorts covered and the demand was a large order on the rise.

Damage to Crops

LOUISVILLE, April 26.—Fruit and vegetation throughout southern Kentucky and Ohio, according to reports from farmers, have been seriously damaged by the cold weather of the last few days. The loss to the early strawberry crop alone is estimated at $100,000, the report says.

WIFE TESTIFIES

"When you get the goods on me I'll let you get a divorce," she said triumphantly.

Those were his last words. The woman fired three shots. One entered the victim's mouth, another went through his cheeks and a third lodged in his right shoulder.

Originally Shapson sued for divorce, but his wife filed a cross-bill, which was sustained. Her suit for separate maintenance followed.

Two other estranged couples were

Judge Brothers held Mrs. Simpson to the grand jury without bail on a charge of attempted murder. Stinson was taken to a hospital, where it was said he would probably die.

in Aeroplane Collision

BILLINGS, Mont., April 25. -- The wife of Lieutenant Fletcher Woolston of Forsyth sustained slight injuries when the Curtiss airplane in which they were traveling from Billings to Forsyth was unable to maintain its equilibrium owing to the cross-air currents, compelling a forced landing at the eastern edge of the city. The airplane was daughter of Senator J. E. E. Edwards		of Reseach county. Lieutenant Woolson was unpaired.
